Restricted Vision No Barrier To Eye Donation

The common misunderstanding that poor eyesight is a barrier to eye donation was corrected by R. Kenneth Hudgins, Executive Director of the Old Dominion Eye Bank, in a special appeal to the newspapers of Virginia to help explain this fact to the public.

Eye tissue which had been donated, on death, by an individual with poor eyesight, Hudgins said, can be just as valuable and effective in sight - restoring cornel transplant operations as tissue from the eyes of a person with perfect vision. The only portion of the eye used in a cornel transplant, operation, be pointed out, is the cornea, the thin, transparent lens-like "window" of the eye.

Hudgins said the need for eye tissue is urgent and the number of requests received from Virginia eye surgeons increases each day. During the past six months, he said, over 51 blind persons have been given sight-restoring cornel transplants using eye tissue donated on death by Virginians. He continued, eye tissue that is provided through the humanitarian service of the Old Dominion Eye Bank is neither bought nor sold, it is supplied without charge to the transplant recipient.

Hudgins pointed out that approximately ten percent of those now blind can be given the "gift of sight" through cornel transplants. He said that anyone wishing to pledge their eyes, on death, to the eye bank for the purpose of restoring sight to someone now blind can do so by getting an eye donor card from any member of a local Lions Club or by contacting the Old Dominion Eye Bank and Research, Inc., 408 North 12th St., Richmond, Va. 23219.

Transco Announced '75 Net Income

HOUSTON, TX - Feb. 10 - Transco Companies, Inc., announced today unaudited consolidated net income in 1975 of $44.8 million, equal to $2.01 per common share, as compared to $12.2 million, or $.55 per share in 1974. Revenues for the year ended Dec. 31, 1975 were $601.3 million, an increase of 15.8 per cent over 1974 revenues.

Reported net income reflects an investment tax credit of $.18 per share for 1975. Net income in 1974 reflects a provision for loss on unsuccessful energy supply projects and lower than estimated deliveries of natural gas.

Resolution Regarding the Celebration of Our Bicentennial

Whereas, the year 1976 will mark the 200th anniversary of the independence of the United States of America and the beginning of the American Resolution; and

Whereas, religious motivations were influential in bringing people to these shores, and provisions for religious liberty were a vital element in the form of government established here; and

Whereas, religious hopes and convictions have been an important factor in shaping this country's self-awareness of its duty and destiny and in determining how it would respond to challenges and difficulties; and

Whereas, religion thus has a legitimate, important and independent contribution to make to a full and fitting observance of the nation's Bicentennial Anniversary,

Now, therefore, be it resolved that the Appomattox County Ministerial Association go on record as approving certain observances, and recommending these observances to area churches, Bicentennial committees, and other religious, and interested persons; these observances are:

[1] A DAY OF PRAYER

This is set for March 5, 1976, World Day of Prayer. There could be special prayer services, special community church groups and so forth, who would concentrate on prayers of gratiuude to God for His blessings to us as a nation, call upon Him in behalf of our country and her leaders, and pray that America will preserve its greatness by returning to its Christian heritage.

[2] A DAY OF WITNESS

This is scheduled for Good Friday, April 16, 1976. There is a high level of sensitivity to spiritual matters during the Easter season, making it an ideal time for personal witness. Materialsx are available for this emphasis.

[3] A DAY OF WORSHIP AND THANKSGIVING TO GOD

This date would be July 4th (the 200th birthday of the United States will fall on a Sunday.) Special services could be planned for local churches with attention given to the bicentennial of the nation. Where possible, churches are urged to come together on that afternoon or evening for community-wide outdoor services in city or town squares, parks, or other suitable places as a united witness to their faith and trust in God.

Respectfully submitted,
Henry E. Biley, for the Appomattox County
Ministerial Association
July 1, 1975

NOTE: The above dates are recommended by the National Association of Evangelicals and this group has registered these dates with the national Bicentennial Administration, the first religious body to submit definite dates. Use Stems of Flowering Shrubs for Winter Decoration

Those brown stems on your Forsythia and other spring flowering shrubs will burst into bloom if you bring them into the house. After all, the poor things have been out in the cold all winter. Indoors they will bloom in a relatively short time. The stems of many types of flowering shrubs and trees may be used for beautiful winter arrangements.

Do not be afraid that you will damage your shrubs by the removal of such stems The cutting of branches from vigrorous shrubs is a beneficial part of the pruning operation. This will help to renew the growth, and keep the bush in a low, well-proportioned form.

When cutting stems for indoor use, select those with well-spaced side branches. Make a slanting cut at the base and place the stem in a container of cool, fresh water. Remove the buds and leaves from the basal part which will be under the water. Place the dormant branches in a warm, well-lighted room until the flowers appear.

You need open, spreading growth to give good cut stems. Therefore, the best branches will be secured from shrubs at the edge of the open lawn area, or in an unclipped border planing. Shrubs in the foundation planting around the house, which are usually quite heavily pruned, will not provide attractive, well-shaped branches.

Many types of flowering shrubs and trees will add interest and beauty to your landscape and supply branches for decorative use. If you don't have them already, plant some of the following kinds this spring:

Forsythia is one of the most popular spring flowering shrubs with gay yellow flowers which appear before the foliage.

Winter Honeysuckle is a medium-size spreading shrub which produces fragrant white flowers in April. The berries are attractive to birds.

Fragrant Viburnum is a tall, erect shrub which has fragrant pink to white flowers in late March.

Japanese Andromeda is a tall compact, bushy evergreen shrub with white, urn-shaped flowers in sprays like Lily-of-the-Valley in late April.

Mountain Andromeda is a medium-size compact, slow growing shrub which produces white flowers in upright open panicles.

Pussy Willow has large, silky gray buds which add unique interest to early spring flower arrangements.

Fruit trees of many types will provide branches for early spring forcing. The flowers of cherry, pear and plum are white. Apple and peach flowers have attractive pink tones.

Native red maple produces interesting stem forms when the small flowers develop and the young leaves first appear.

Horse - chestnut branches have showy flowers and attractive young foliage.

For really gay arrangements try some of these branches during the drab days of late winter and early spring.
